

Hockey Equipment Cleaning

A lot of players go through their whole careers without cleaning their equipment. Unlike the pros, who have it done for them, most players don't have the time, couldn't be bothered or are unaware of how to clean their gear.

The easiest way to do it is to make sure you hang everything out to dry after playing. There are hockey hangers and hanger-type equipment bags on the market to help you, or you can use regular hangers.

You can also wash your equipment with detergent, by hand, in a large sink or bathtub and hang it to dry. It's not advisable to put equipment in a washing machine or dryer. There are also hockey equipment sprays and hockey deodorizers on the market. If none of these methods work there are industrial cleaners out there who clean hockey equipment. You just have to seek them out.
