

Player Development – A Long Journey to Success

By Chad Flanders, Technical Director

Dear Campton Families,

Two former Campton United SC players currently play for the men's soccer team at Marquette University, an NCAA DI School, and both are currently seniors this fall. Coach Brain Nail and I had a chance to watch Brady Wahl and Charlie Lyons play Saturday, September 20 as they played at NIU in DeKalb, winning 2-0.

Brady Wahl is a holding midfielder (also called a defensive center midfielder). Brady is a very skilled and intelligent soccer player. He reads the game very well and keeps things simple as he changes the point of attack with his pinpoint passing. He also does a great job of locking things down when he steps in defensively to stop the other team from getting forward. He is originally from Geneva, IL and played for Campton United SC from 2000-2010. He is hoping to have a chance to play professional soccer once his senior season ends at Marquette. His team is currently nationally ranked at #13 by the NSCAA and Top Drawer Soccer and performing well early on in the season.

Charlie Lyons is a goalkeeper for Marquette and was originally from St. Charles and played at St. Charles East. He played for Campton Untied SC from U10-U15 and was a player that started out on the U11 Red team, then made the U12 White team, and by U13 was on the Navy team. He developed nicely over that 3-year period and ended up being a goalkeeper in his time. Charlie has too many awards to list, but like Brady, he is excited to play professionally. Both athletes have played the game for a long time and have put in many hours to get to where they are today.

I know many parents outside our club ask me 'Why Campton United SC'? What is so much better about your club compared to others locally? I feel Campton United SC has shown over many years that we have the right coaching staff, the right curriculum and the right facilities to assist players in reaching their personal goals and dreams. We can't guarantee that every player will have the same success as these two former players have; but we feel we have many resources in place to assist players in obtaining their goals of playing at the next level, whatever that level is.

Aid In Your Child's Development

By Chad Flanders, Technical Director

I hope everyone is enjoying the fall weather and watching your child play soccer. As a parent, what do you evaluate when watching your child play? Have you played soccer yourself and have an idea of how the game should be played? Do you have an older child in high school now, so you have a different point of view or reference point since you have seen your child grow and change over the years? Or, is this your first child playing for the first time and this whole process is new and overwhelming? I would assume we all fall into some category somewhere in between. Even if you did play soccer as a youth player 'back in the old days', mid to late 70's for me, I don't ever remember being taught the things your child is being taught today.

We need your help to make sure that your child can learn in a positive environment at game time. The game is a huge part of a coach's job, and not the winning or losing. The coaches at Campton United SC want to win every game we coach, but more importantly we want our players to learn to be a 'student of the game'. If we win 8-0 or lose 0-8 our coaches are reviewing the educational aspects of how the game was played. Every game, the coaches are consistently evaluating the players to see if the skills we are teaching them during the week are translating to the game field. The best way for us to measure player development is to watch them play and analyze their game performance. I know even the high school age groups still have growing pains when translating training concepts to the game field. All players have these issues at all ages, no one is perfect, but we are always striving for perfection.

I wanted to relay some important information to all parents as a reminder to aid in your child's development this season. The Directors and I have worked extremely hard to enhance our curriculum from season to season and year to year. Our coaches use this curriculum to develop age appropriate lesson plans that will challenge your child on a weekly basis. We are using the four pillars of soccer (technique, tactics, physical and psychological) to guide us along the way. At times, especially with our younger ages, U8-U10, your child's team may be struggling with multiple issues on the game field. This is a common learning process issue.

As the curriculum unfolds throughout the fall your child's team has been working on multiple topics covered in blocks (2 week segments) that will continue to reinforce a specific topic from week to week with varying degrees of progression. The coaches will build on the specific topic in layers from simple to complex. Maybe one of the areas / topics the team is struggling with hasn't even been covered in the first four weeks. An example of that maybe, 'one versus one defending'; some of our younger age groups have been working on dribbling and running at players to create a numbers up situation, finishing and finishing off a cross/pass. We haven't started 'one versus one defending' until just this week. So please understand the process of teaching them everything about the game of soccer doesn't happen overnight and it also doesn't happen during your fall season. The journey of development is a long and bumpy road that has many twists and turns along the way. All children learn at different rates and some absorb information faster than others do, so please be patience when analyzing your child's progress. The staff and I look at a whole year, from August to June as a large window to evaluate and look for continued growth in all of our members.

So how can you as a parent help? I have been to a large number of matches over the last 6 weeks and have heard and seen many things that are disrupting the learning environment on game day. I know all of you want your child to play well, play hard and compete at a high level, but sometimes your excitement for them ends up sending mixed signals. If your child is playing please keep your comments to 'great pass', 'nice dribbling', 'great effort to get back', or 'nice hustle'. If you want to help, keep it positive and keep it simple. If you are giving any instructions like 'pass here' or 'dribble there' and 'push up' or 'get back defensively' you could be sending mixed signals.

Players are being distracted and being pulled in multiple directions when it comes to coaching feedback. It's hard enough to play the game with your coach giving instructions, but then you add in a mom and / or dad and now the kids are running around trying to please everyone that is shouting out instructions.

You may be telling your player to do something that your coach has asked him/her not to do. During the game, the players should be listening to their coach's instructions. If the parents are coaching and giving players instructions and the coach is giving instructions, then who are the players supposed to be listening too? When I have visited many games this fall, this is happening way too often on the parent sidelines and therefore it is making it very difficult for our coaches to evaluate and analyze their players and figure out if what they are teaching them during the week is being translated to the game. When I watch a team play and the kids' heads are looking toward the parent side and not their coach's side, I see a huge issue.

I hope everyone takes this information the right way. Your kids love that you support them and watch their games, so please continue your support. The staff and I just ask that you leave the coaching and instruction to the coach of your child's team, so they hear one voice and one voice only. This will allow for a more consistent message and proper feedback based on what the players have been taught. If you have questions about what is being covered in training that week, simply just ask your coach. We have a very specific curriculum that is being followed week by week by all our coaches.

Board President's Letter

By Roger Albrecht, CUSC Board President

Welcome to all Campton United Soccer Club Families!

I hope the upcoming 2014-15 soccer season will be an enjoyable experience for you and your children. It's going to be another successful soccer season for Campton teams. We are lucky to have a great group of players, families and staff representing Campton Nation!

The club continues to move forward in fulfilling our strategic plan to be a Chicagoland leader in soccer development and achievement. Over the last few years, we made it a priority of the board to secure great practice and game facilities and assemble a top caliber staff, utilizing a soccer curriculum to maximize the potential for all our players and teams. Evidence of our success is that we are attracting players from a wider geographic area. This year our older players are comprised from over 20 different high schools.

Campton United will continue providing players an opportunity to enjoy a higher level of soccer, while still benefiting from team experiences in the same manner as in the past. Our club fosters this family atmosphere while providing a soccer experience at the highest level of play available. Our full-time Directors of Coaching, part-time coaching staff and Technical Director provide a professional soccer atmosphere, and a level of experience, unsurpassed in the Chicago region.

At the board level, we strive to improve how we run our organization, communicate more effectively, efficiently serve our members and provide the coaching tools necessary to successfully develop your children's soccer skills. Our recent focus, with the help of our Governance Committee, is to modernize and implement employee and board policy manuals. Our newly created Sponsorship Committee is dedicated to securing new outside sources of revenue to defray parent costs.

For anyone interested in having a role in the club's success and future, we are always looking for volunteers, particularly to help with planning aspects of our Midwest Cup Memorial Day Tournament and upcoming Casino Night. If you are interested in helping with these events, please contact board members Tony DeMarco or Karen Cooney.

At any time, please feel free to contact any Campton Board member with feedback or to express an interest in volunteering.

Best wishes to all for a fun and productive season on the pitch!

Roger Albrecht, Club President

Academy Update

By JJ Ruane, Director of Youth Development.

It has been a great start to the season in the Academy. We have a new Academy class of 60. This includes about 25 returning players, but 35 new young players from the age of 5-10.

Our Academy was created to develop young players' ball skills and help them grow in their enjoyment of the game of soccer. We have added 2 new staff coaches to the Academy, Nicole Cournaya who works with the U6 Academy players and Annie Lauterer who works with our U5 Academy. Again, the Academy is still two days a week, one dedicated for training and the other day set aside for matches against the other Academy players.

Junior Soccer Academy opened on September 10th to a class of 8-year olds. For most of them, this is really their first time in a pure soccer environment. This class is intended for those looking for an introduction to soccer. We introduce soccer through the use of fun games involving the soccer ball. Games range from red light, green light to the ever famous Superhero 1v1 game. Coach Louie Mojica and Director, J.J. Ruane assist in making this 6 week class the best it can be.

There will be some additions to programming this year. We have a Winter Academy I and II planned for this year. Winter Academy I will be added to the schedule between Fall Academy and Christmas. Winter Academy II begins January 13 and registration will open by October 1. Space is limited for the indoor academies this winter. Coming this winter is a Thanksgiving foot skills camp held the day before and the day after Thanksgiving. We will host a Christmas Break camp for the players to keep the kids up to date with their skills instead of sitting idle in the house.

MEET JOHN HONCHARUK

ATC, CSCS, PN1, MCT, FMS2, SGX AKA "HONCH"

John Honcharuk is the Facility Manager for Athletico Physical Therapy in St Charles for the last 10 years "Honch" has been featured on ESPN1000 and is an Amazon.com bestselling author.

What is Athletico?

We are a physical therapy practice who deals in rehabilitation of injuries, sports performance and conditioning. We are the largest employer of Athletic Trainers in Illinois. We have Athletic Trainers from our company who work with youth athletic clubs, high schools, colleges, professional sports teams, and national governing bodies like US Soccer.

What is your favorite "Athletic Trainer" experience?

I moved from a Division 1 College Football team to be the Head Trainer for the Chicago Power Professional Indoor Soccer Team. At the time I certainly did not relish the game of soccer, but I was excited to expand my horizons to a professional sports team. During my time there getting to know the players, the coaches, and the strategies, I really learned to appreciate and love the beautiful game and why the world loves it. It's inspiring how teams work hard over 90 minutes for a single goal and all the magic that is built into the game. That experience helped me to see sports outside of my own experiences and pre-conceived ideas.

How did you come to know Campton United Soccer Club?

Our interactions with Campton came during the opening of the Sportsplex in St Charles. We had a facility upstairs there and Campton was heavily involved in running the soccer operations during the first couple of years. Our working relationship started when the club approached us to learn more about ACL injury prevention and conditioning players during the winter months. Campton was really one of the first clubs to recognize that this was helpful in keeping their kids on the field. This work led to us guiding their players in a strength and conditioning program, speed, agility, and quickness programs, nutrition and concussion talks, injury screening, and rehabilitation of players.

Describe the process of an Injury Screen

A Campton United player or family member can make an appointment to be seen by one of our Athletico Clinical staff, free of charge, to help determine the extent of an injury. We view it like injury triage, meaning we work with clients in our facility the same way a high school Athletic Trainer would assess a player on the field of play. We help the player and the parent determine when and if they should see a medical professional like their family doctor, an orthopedic, or if they should try some strengthening exercises or stretching and icing to help with an injury. We can help be that buffer when a parent is unsure if they need to follow up with their doctor or simply rest and ice. Any family looking for an injury screen can call the St. Charles clinic at 630-762-1200 or www.athletico.com.

How do you support the annual Midwest Cup Tournament?

We have been a part of every Midwest Cup since its inception 11 years ago. We provide Athletic Trainers for the event to help treat injuries that might arise during the weekend.

What is on the immediate horizon in working with Campton United?

We are planning a concussion talk November 20th, 7:00 PM at the Campton Indoor Complex. I have a presentation that details what a concussion is and how treatment has changed in the wake of current medical knowledge. This is one of the biggest hotspot topics in youth sports right now and every parent will come away with information about keeping their children safe. The talk will last about 30 minutes with plenty of time for Q and A after.

PLAYER SPOTLIGHT

Meet Jack Schramme

How long have you played for Campton United SC?

My brother Luke & I started in 2006 with the Campton Academy program.

When you think of Campton United, what comes to your mind?

To me, Campton is all about the good coaching and teams working together. With each training session I grew as a player by learning new tactics and techniques. All of my Campton coaches have really helped me develop my skills and my soccer IQ and field awareness.

This year you were honored by NISL, can you tell us about that honor?

Last spring, my team played in the u14 NISL Chicago Premier League, and NISL gave me a nice NISL Premiership red jersey for being the leading scorer among all the u14 Chicago Premier League players with 12 goals in the Spring 2014 season.

What's your favorite social media app?

I enjoy Twitter to catch up on the latest soccer news and transfers around the world by following Soccer Sauce, Premier League, and French Ligue 1.

Do you follow Campton United social media?

Yes. I like to read what our coaches and team mates tweet about our games, and how the other Campton teams are doing.

What is your favorite thing about having a twin brother who plays with you?

It's been great being on the same Campton team with Luke since Day 1. It's like we read each other's minds, and we know what runs we will make just with eye contact. Campton's helpful coaching and high-level competitive play prepared me and my brother to be starters on our Varsity High School team this fall as freshmen.

I like twitter the best!
