The KidSport™ Program

KidSport™ helps children participate in sport when their families face financial barriers. The program is run by Sport PEI.

Who can use this program?

Families with children under the age of 18 may apply. Families can apply for more than one child.

KidSport™ makes its decisions based on the family's income level.

The sporting organization, that the child would like to join, must be a member of Sport PEI.

Sport activities must be several weeks in length, and be led by a qualified coach/instructor.

What do I need to know?

Each year, a child can apply for one grant of between $20 - $300. If a family would like ongoing support, the family must successfully apply each calendar year.

The grant must be used for the child who is named on the application. You cannot use the grant for other family members.

That grant may be used for more than one sport. It may be used to pay for registration fees, membership fees, or required personal sporting equipment.

Only the KidSport™ Allocation Committee can approve your application. No other organization can make this decision.

How can I prove my family needs support?

- You can submit your GST Tax Credit form or Canada Child Tax Benefit form. These documents show the family's net income, marital status and RRSP contribution for the most recent tax year. See the chart in yellow for information about qualifying income levels.
- If your family uses social assistance, you can submit a letter written by your Child and Family Services worker.

Net Annual Family Income

$25,000 or less

What if my family has a unique situation?

Families who make more than the amounts listed in the chart may still be considered if they have special needs or a unique situation. In this case, you must submit your family's GST Tax Credit form or Child Tax Benefit form. You must also write a letter explaining why your family needs support.

Please give us the name of a person who can talk to us about your situation. This person must not be a family member. Include their name, address, phone number and relationship to your family.

How will I know if my child is approved?

We will send you a letter about our decision. If your application is approved, we will send payment directly to your child's sport organization or sporting goods store. Please let the sport organization know that you have been approved.

We cannot send payment until the sport organization confirms your child's participation.
