EXECUTIVE'S SECRETARY COLUMN

John K. Elder
Executive Secretary
Illinois Coaches Association

Sometimes, we need to step back and look at our practices when dealing with young people. Answer the question—How does it feel to be coached by me? Young people form lifetime goals and objectives from their dealings with adults. Make certain that we give them the proper perspectives. I watch football at every level on a regular basis, as I have 10 grandsons playing and a son coaching. It is disturbing to me to observe how much coaches are influenced by television and NFL techniques during the course of a game. LET'S REMEMBER—THESE ARE YOUNG PEOPLE THAT ARE PLAYING ON THESE TEAMS, NOT PROFESSIONALS.

I visited the offices of National College Scouting Association in Chicago and was quite impressed with the manner in which they fulfill their obligations to their clients. It appears as if they pursue every avenue to aid their clients receive the best opportunity for success in finding a school to fit their needs and desires. You can go to www.ncsasports.org and look over their product. Check article elsewhere in this publication.

FREE RECRUITING WEBINAR for all coaches, athletes and parents in Illinois is available to all who download this from the ICA website homepage, www.icacoach.org Many questions are answered and direction is given to those young people who are either going through or anticipate going through the recruiting process. When you open the website, double click on Recruiting info.

We are quite pleased to list job vacancies and open dates for schools. We see this as a valuable tool for coaches. AFTER WE HAVE LISTED THE POSITION FOR YOU AND IT IS FILLED, PLEASE LET US KNOW. This enables us to keep the webpage current.

The Illinois Coaches Association strives to make as many membership benefits available as possible. The $1000000 Liability Insurance Policy is one of the major benefits and it will cover member coaches for teaching responsibilities in the classroom should no other coverage be in place. This is a major step for the ICA. Where else can you get this coverage for so few dollars?

We can't stress the importance of our corporate partners in the operation of the ICA. Check their website and ad in this edition. Remember-Give them your support!!! They are the lifeline of our programs!!! WHEN PURCHASING USE THEIR PRODUCTS PLEASE!!

Football Officials Needed-Illinois High Schools

Coaches and Athletic Directors are encountering much difficulty in securing officials for Football Games. Many games are being moved to alternate dates, thus disrupting the organization of high school teams. There is definitely a need for interested parties to become involved as a high school football official. This is a great way to stay involved in high school sports and work with young people. Encourage young people interested in football to pursue this avocation, or at least visit with some veteran official about the benefits of this involvement. Who knows where it could lead them!! Contact the IHSA 309-663-6377

ILLINOIS COACHES ASSOCIATION has a brochure outlining benefits of membership and activities available through membership. Contact the ICA Office and we will send you an ample amount for your coaches.

HELP NEEDED AT GIRLS STATE TRACK MEETS—Due to many conflicts and the overlapping with Boys Sectional Meets, The IHSA Girls State Track Meet has a need for event officials. Interested parties contact Ron McGraw at 309-663-6377 or 2715 McGraw Drive, Bloomington, IL 61702-2715

Glazier Clinics and IHSFCA Deliver Illinois Football Coaches a Great Avenue for Education

The Glazier Football Clinics and the Illinois High School Football Coaches Association started a partnership in 2013 that gives Illinois football coaches a considerable amount of excellent football education. Between the two organizations there will be three great clinics. They include the two Glazier clinics in Chicago and the IHSFCA clinic in Champaign. Both organizations share a passion for educating football coaches and providing every opportunity for coaches to succeed on and off the field.

The Glazier Football Clinics provides 24/7 football education by offering a Staff Season Pass, which allows an entire coaching staff to attend the 30+ Glazier clinics nationwide in 2013 for only $349 for online registrations. These clinics feature talented speakers talking on a variety of topics. The Season Pass also includes a one-year membership to Glazier Clinic Online - access to over 1,000 sets of clinic notes, over 200 hours of online video and over 250 archived webinars.

Additionally, the Season Pass includes 10 live eClinics - an internet video streaming clinic event. Glazier features a streaming video technology that provides clear video streams for optimal viewing. Watch the eClinics from the comfort of your home or office at Glazier Clinic Online.

Besides the Chicago Glazier clinics, there are other regional Glazier clinics, which include St. Louis, Indianapolis, Grand Rapids, Cincinnati, and Detroit. The Chicago Glazier clinics have a premier speaking lineup, including coaches from the New York Giants, Stanford, Illinois, Michigan State, Tulsa, Arkansas, Georgia Tech, Wisconsin and many more.

Together, IHSFCA and Glazier Clinics provide you with the resources to take your team to the next level. We look forward to seeing you at the 2013 Glazier clinics and the 2013 IHSFCA clinic.

SPORTS ON THE EDGE: ARE TRUE CHAMPIONS BECOMING EXTINCT?

Athlete, Coach, Author Kirk Mango Shows Athletes the Path to Becoming a True Champion

In a world where athletes are celebrities and fame and fortune comes with high scrutiny and expectations, how do some manage to escape the bad media attention and be true champions? Why do some make the choices they do and garner that attention, giving athletes, in general, a bad name? Three-time Hall of Fame athlete Kirk Mango (a former National Champion, Three-time All-American, coach and author) shows athletes the meaning of Becoming a True Champion, utilizing the principals he learned that took him from a mediocre gymnast to one who defeated several Olympians and became known as “The Lord of the Rings.”

In a desire to share his own story and wisdom on how to achieve success—both athletically and personally—Mango authored Becoming a True Champion: Achieving Athletic Excellence from the Inside Out, with Daveda Lamont (Rowman & Littlefield, $17.95, May 2012). In it he tells the story of how he became a state champion in just one year. A self-described “mediocre” high school gymnast, Mango reached a turning point, making a life-changing decision that put him on the path to success.

Today, Mango focuses not on what it means to be a champion—but instead on how to become one. As a teacher, coach and mentor to high school students for over 30 years, he says that being successful is a process that requires hard work, discipline, perseverance, integrity and taking personal responsibility, something often not modeled in professional athletes. Blaming “everything outside the athlete,” from poor referee calls to weather, shifts responsibility away from the athlete, Mango believes; staying true to one’s own individuality and taking responsibility are the keys to achieving one’s goals.

“So many young people are focused on immediate gratification today. They don’t want to work for it,” says Mango. “But success takes time, and requires tapping into one’s internal, intrinsic motivations and being unwilling to give up.”

And while the outcome of this work might be a championship (fame or fortune) - it might not, but the building blocks behind success are established, portable and can apply to all areas of life.

Does that mean it will be easy? “Not at all,” says Mango. “Students, and all athletes, face significant peer pressures and influences today, including cheating and other poor ethical choices, entitlement-type attitudes, steroids, and the like. Adversity can be a good thing, but when students rise above and stay true to their goals, these challenges can build character and mental discipline crucial for success.”

Becoming a True Champion is for athletes of all abilities and ages, and gives readers insight on how to achieve their personal best and avoid the pitfalls of temptations and influences that create a shortcut to success, but not long-term success. The book is available on Amazon.com, BarnesandNoble.com and through the publisher, Rowman & Littlefield. For more information about Kirk Mango and his book, visit

ICA NAMES SCHOLARSHIP RECIPIENTS

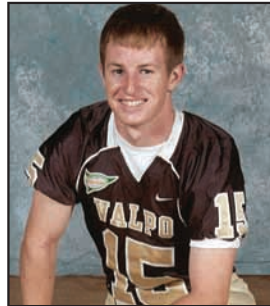

We were quite pleased to have the young people respond to the Scholarship opportunity provided by the Illinois Coaches Association. We feel as if this shows initiative on their part and also is an indication of responsibility.

This is the eighteenth year that the ICA has made this scholarship available to a son or daughter of a member. This year the offerings include five young people. We feel that this $750 one time scholarship is a substantial benefit of membership.

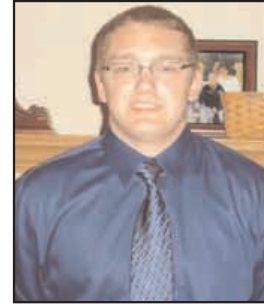

We would like to announce that Joshua Young, Lemont HS, Kevin Modelski, Conant HS, Thomas Razo, Lockport HS, Thomas Nye, Chicago Brother Rice HS and Rebekah Michaelsen, Lemont HS have been named the recipients of the $750 Illinois Coaches Association/ NATIONAL FUNDRAISING PARTNERS Scholarships for this year. Coaches and athletic directors of Illinois

I couldn't be prouder that NCSA has the opportunity through the Illinois Coaches Association to assist coaches by providing recruiting education to their student athletes and parents. Together, we can help ensure every young athlete in our state who is committed to playing in college has the chance to. Let me give you a little background about us – when NCSA started in 2000, it was me at a desk in my basement. Since then, our staff has grown to more than 300, and over 60,000 NCSA athletes - 90% of the kids we've worked with - have gone on to play in college, earning a total of $3 billion in scholarships.

We send speakers across the country to talk with student-athletes about how the recruiting process works and how to use sports to make the most of their future (we call it "athleadership"). Our Recruit-Match system allows any athlete, coach, or athletic director to access a wealth of recruiting and college information, and connect with others in the network – players can find their best-fit colleges and future coaches, coaches can fill their rosters with quality athletes each year.

Like most of our staff, I am a former athlete. Partly because of that, our view of recruiting goes way beyond Signing Day. College sports are a path to higher education. They teach athletes discipline, time management, and how to work as part of a team (which may be why 100% of CEOs we surveyed would hire a college athlete over a non-athlete with similar qualifications). Our athletes are with us for life - from recruiting, to transferring, to professional connections once they graduate.

We provide high school coaches, athletic directors, guidance counselors and club coaches with recruiting tools, resources, and college coach connections through our High School Recruiting Management System. To sign up for the High School RMS please go to our website: ncsasports.org and click on "High School Coaches" in the lower right hand corner.

I look forward to working with you on our common goal: to help committed athletes play and prosper.

Best regards,

Chris Krause
