OUR VISION

Years ago, kids all over the world played soccer whenever and wherever they wanted. There was an abundance of space and time and soccer was the "thing" to do. Players developed themselves by touching the ball many times each day in various circumstances; sometimes just by themselves, sometimes in 1v1 situations and sometimes through large-sided pick-up games. This free-flowing improvisation of soccer-activities created smart players that could solve soccer-problems. The ideas from street-soccer form the foundation of our Club's coaching philosophy. All aspects of the game, technique, tactics and fitness are developed by playing in simple game-situations.

At SYSA-PFC, our coaching philosophy is to take everything that made street-soccer so popular and such a good learning tool and bundle it into soccer-realistic activities.
