

Pacer FB News & Notes - UPDATED 11/6

Pacer Football F.A.M.I.L.Y.,

Welcome to the last regular season game day! I've got a few notes to share this afternoon.

- We are wearing WHITE jerseys tonight as St. Cat's requested to wear their dark jerseys. They were not allowed to play any home games in the city of Racine this year and have had to play on the road every week. Tonight was supposed to be their home game and senior night celebration so we will honor their request to wear their home jerseys and announce their seniors.
- We have officially cancelled the JV game that was scheduled for Monday, 11/9 against St. Cat's due to a dangerously low number of players available for that game. Sophomores should plan on attending practice next week still. Freshmen are welcome to join us but not required.
- Speaking of next week, we are basically guaranteed an opportunity to compete in the altered playoffs as there are only 210 teams left for 224 spots that the WIAA has for postseason football. We will find out at midnight tonight which division we are in (likely D4 this year) and then at 1:30am our regional grouping of four teams will be released. Here's a link to the WisSports projections if you'd like to read about the selection process or to look at which teams are projected to be in each division. Once we know who we're playing and where, I will put together the usual news and notes document to share with all of you this weekend.

Looking forward to a beautiful night for football! God Bless and Go Pacers!
