Academic Spotlight

Learning Together, Growing Stronger

Victory School of Wrestling started in 2006 to help athletes reach their full human and athletic potential using a holistic approach and focusing on the "Total Athlete" – body, mind, and soul.

Victory athletes compete in several competitions all over the planet, however, the mission and vision of the club is education-based.

It's called a wrestling "school," rather than a "club," in order to prioritize the educational process and create lifelong learners in the sport of wrestling.

Outcomes are important, however, full engagement in the process is what matters most.

Be your best and do your best.

Message from Coach Kevin

We had a great summer that created a lot of positive momentum heading into the preseason training programs and events. Our athletes continue to learn how to build their confidence through planning and progress.

Girls Compete at WOTR

Victory School of Wrestling assembled a girl's dual meet team for one of the nation's toughest tournaments: War of the Roses Preseason National Duals, featuring 64 teams and an individual tournament.

The girls wrestled 6 duals meets and the following day, several of them wrestled in the individual tournament. The girls will compete together again at the Civil War Duals in Janesville, WI in November.

"The War of the Roses was a great way to bond as a team."

VICTORY WRESTLERS IN PICTURES

Malakai Barker from Osceola was one of several wrestlers who competed in the WI Wrestle's King of the North.

Vinny Sindt, Lane Hague, and Conner Becker wrestled at the Cosmic a clash in Colorado.

The Elite Performance Plan (EPP) athletes meet before practice to study "Chop wood, Carry Water."

Summer trip to Colorado

Victory School of Wrestling's 2025 Tour Across America brought 53 athletes, parents and coaches to Colorado Springs, CO. Wrestlers trained at Best Wrestler (Council Bluffs, IA), the US Olympic Training Center, and the Air Force Academy.

"I learned a lot about myself and how I can grow as a wrestlers, both mentally and physically."

—Faye Schachtner

Fundraisers!

Victory School of Wrestling enjoys a meaningful partnership with The Heart & Hustle Charity, helping to resource the pursuit of excellence in the sport of wrestling.
