GEORGIA UNITED

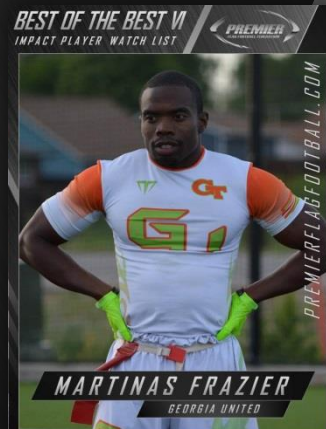

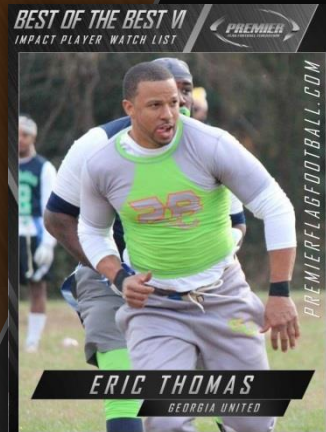

By Michael Parfitt
Colorado Flag Football Corner

PRE-TOURNAMENT RANKING #1

Your Back2Back Best of the Best Champions are making their return to Denver in hopes for a threepeat. Georgia United will have many of the same faces from their first two championships but have added some new ones as well. They will surely be bringing their A game and are maintaining a focus on dominating this tournament, even against increasingly stiffening competition. Unfortunately, their fearless leader Patrick Henderson will not be on the field as he suffered an injury in another tournament this past April. Hopefully it is a speedy recovery so we can see that very talented individual back on the field. Even without Mr. Henderson's presence, Georgia United still has a surplus of athletes that will step up in his place. One major change will be Eric Thomas tossing the rock. Eric has been on the team before but in a different capacity. He is eager to show what he can do while at the helm. The defense has made adjustments to their secondary, which will only benefit from the tremendous pass rush that GU will bring. I know firsthand from last year, the pressure that GU can bring when they send three or four speed rushers. They undoubtedly are the team to beat.

CALI COALITION

By Michael Parfitt
Colorado Flag Football Corner

PRE-TOURNAMENT RANKING #2

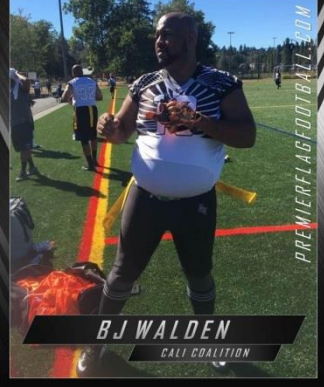

Making their Best of the Best debut is the #1 rated West Coast team, Cali Coalition. This team is also in the conversation as the #1 team in the nation. They come with an immense amount of tournament experience and success. Being able to adapt to any situation in game, is one of their biggest strengths. One big reason for that adaptation is the experience that QB Jayson Medeiros brings to the table. Keeping Jayson clean is tackle BJ Walden. BJ has a calming demeanor that helps to keep his teams head straight. His heavy hands and quick feet makes for a long game if you're the pass rusher. On the defensive side Don Robinson is one of the three headed monster that makes up the D-line. With the speed to get around the edge and power to go through your blocker, Don can sometimes be completely unstoppable. His angry play is just what you want in a pass rush as you know he'll never give up on a play. If Cali Coalition were to take a loss, it will probably be due to complacency as they tend to do that from time to time. Cali Coalition has beaten the 2x reigning Best of the Best Champions Georgia United in their last three meetings. So needless to say GU could be sweating the arrival of Cali Coalition.

PRE-TOURNAMENT RANKING #3

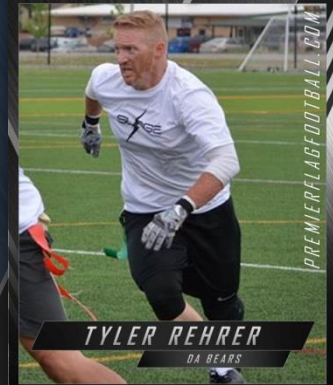

Making what I believe is their third Best of the Best tournament is Da Bears. Last year they had a tremendous amount of success with a variation of the oyster offensive system. Not that my opinion matters but I'd rank these guys as the #2 or #3 seed going in. In part due to them finishing in second place last year but also the fact that they are even better this year than last year's team, which is scary. Along with all tournament selections of Tanner and Casey Rehner, Da Bears will also have former Denver Broncos Nate Palmer at WR and Nate Irving at LB. This time around they have a couple of their core WR's able to make the trip in Scott Peery and Justin Brown. Both are very experienced and played college ball. Among others it goes without saying that this team is stacked and ready to rock and roll. Look for Da Bears to cruise past pool play on Saturday. I'm going to put it down in ink that Da Bears will be playing in the Pro tournament come Sunday and will make it to, at a minimum, the second round.

CTS (CO)

By Michael Parfitt
Colorado Flag Football Corner

PRE-TOURNAMENT RANKING #4

Fresh off winning their 6th PF3 Championship, CTS will be looking to add their first Best of the Best championship to their trophy case. Guiding CTS will once again be Deuce Richardson. This past season they entered the playoffs as the #4 seed but that was in large part due to injuries during the season. Deuce has become known in the PF3 as the LeBron of Flag Football with his ability to just will his team to the win. Of course CTS is no stranger to the Best of the Best as they have entered most, if not all five previous tournaments. They will have the dynamic duo pass rushing once again. Victor Harris is back from the injury he had last year at this time and will pair with Sthyl Driscoll to wreak havoc for opposing QBs. I want to say both have had the opportunity to travel with Georgia United in national tournaments. That is some high praise to have an out of state team ask you to play on their traveling squad. I'd say their strength is combination of pure athletes to go along with height as a lot of their players come from a basketball background. As for a weakness it's hard to truly come up with one but if I have to, then it would be age is starting to creep in as a factor. CTS will probably be the top ranked Colorado team going into pool play since they came away with the Spring PF3 championship. With that high ranking you could almost pencil in CTS for the pro tournament on Sunday.

THE BROS (CO)

By Michael Parfitt
Colorado Flag Football Corner

PRE-TOURNAMENT RANKING #5

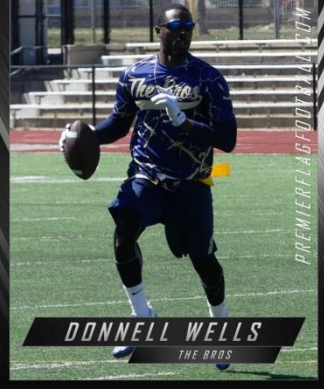

The Bros (Denver Elite from last year) are riding into the tournament after a great spring season. They went undefeated in the regular season against the PF3's A League. Four of those teams are playing in the Best of the Best. This is a team absolutely no one should sleep on. They probably have the highest collective team speed of all the Colorado teams. On offense, they are led by QB Donell Wells who made such huge strides at becoming a pure QB that he boasted a 72.6% completion and a QB rating of 132.3. Those are good numbers from just a pocket QB but coming from a more dual threat, QB those numbers become tremendous. Oh by the way he contributes on defense as a defensive back and has great success there too. Speaking on the defensive side they boast probably the best secondary of all the Colorado teams. I say that because as a team the Bros nabbed 22 interceptions of which 7 were returned for touchdowns. To go along with those picks they will also get after the QB. The pure athletic ability The Bros possess would be their greatest strength. I'd say their greatest weakness comes down to the technical side as they can be out schemed from time to time. This is still one of the younger teams but they are making strides to being a powerhouse for years to come. As long as they keep their heads straight, the Bros will be in contention for the championship.

NOCO BULLS (CO)

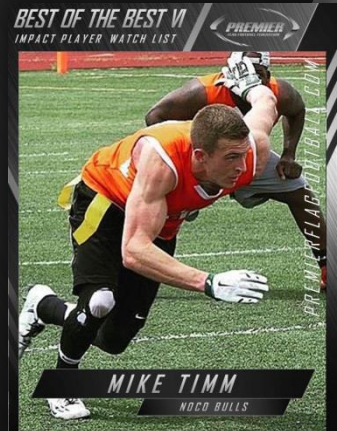

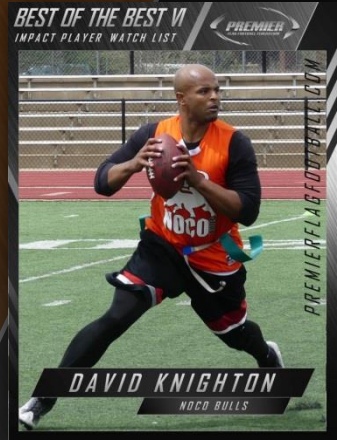

By Michael Parfitt
Colorado Flag Football Corner

PRE-TOURNAMENT RANKING #6

Many teams were sleeping on the NoCo Bulls last year and they took advantage by getting two wins and a tie in pool play. That record gave them the #4 overall seed but set up a match up against the reigning champs, Georgia United. The results weren't what they were hoping for and bowed out in the first round. This team is still on the rise and I don't think we've seen their best yet. On offense, look for Mark "Moss" Henderson to make phenomenal catch's over even the best DB's while David Knighton will be at the helm once again. In the spring season playoffs he led the Bulls in a win against Team Swift before they barely lost to CTS in the championship game. The defense, led by long arm Mike Timms, will have a huge impact on the QB's. He ended up tying the PF3 sack record of 17 this past season and if the Bulls want to get further than last year, then big Mike's skills will need to be on full display. The Bulls roster is filled with former DI players and have talent across the board and is very balanced and their success hinges on the arm of David Knighton. As long as the Bulls don't get placed in the "Group of death", they should have a solid shot of being in the Pro tournament once again. If they don't make the Pro tournament then look for them to be the favorite to take home the Comp championship.

MISFITS (UT)

By Michael Parfitt
Colorado Flag Football Corner

PRE-TOURNAMENT RANKING #7

This year marks the third visit from the Utah Misfits for Best of the Best. Dustin Heath is the captain of the team while also playing QB. In last year's Best of the Best, the Misfits beat the Rockers, lost to CTS, and tied Colorado Springs VIP to obtain the 8th seed in Sunday's tournament. Unfortunately the Misfits went up against the power house Colorado Menace and just got buzz sawed. Last year's B.O.B, we saw the Misfits perfect the double pass and had it on display multiple times. Making the trip once again will be the very athletic duo of Leo Borba and Ryan Pitt. Look for them to make an impact on both sides of the ball. The Misfits will be trying to make the Pro tournament for the third time in a row, however, if they only have around 10-14 guys, it could end up being a tall task. If they can take a couple wins from some teams, it would be fairly remarkable as a lot of the teams will be bringing upwards of 20 guys on their rosters. They seem to be that scrappy team that gets the job done and you're left wondering what just happened. For this year I am predicting they'll get a win but lose two which will put them in the Comp tournament. Although talented, coming into a tournament that is this stacked, with only around 10 guys, is just too much to overcome.

THE SYNDICATE (CO)

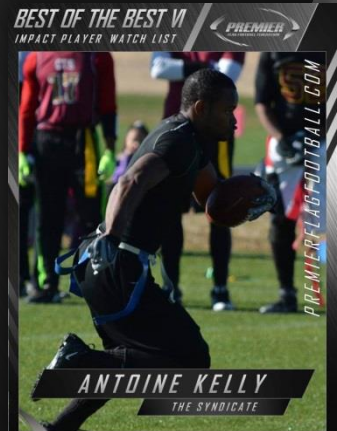

By Michael Parfitt
Colorado Flag Football Corner

PRE-TOURNAMENT RANKING #8

Don't let the name fool you, this is a squad comprised of two phenomenal teams. The Colorado Huskers and Colorado Menace have combined to create a super team. The Huskers won one of the PF3 Leagues this past spring and in convincing fashion. They are Colorado's top 5 and 6 man traveling team and come with a boat load of accolades. Menace went undefeated in pool play for last year's Best of the Best and has been the only Colorado team to beat the 2x Best of the Best Champions, Georgia United. With The Syndicate roster filled with so much talent, it makes picking key players almost impossible but I'll throw a few out anyway. On defense, they have top tier pass rushers galore and finally we could see "Supra" Mario Lopez and Donovan Haynes rushing the passer for the first time together. For comparison, that's like Von Miller and Derek Thomas coming at you (you can pick who's who). Those two along with all the other pass rushers should make the secondary's job a walk in the park for pick six's. Potentially making those pick six's in the secondary are Jordan Williams, Jess Riley, and Dave Bowen. On offense, Jesse Eaton will have all the time in the world behind a beast of an O-line and if you send an extra, well one of the many explosive wide receiver weapons will make you pay dearly. Antoine Kelly is one of those explosive receivers that will complement the size mismatch of Kyle Bowers. This is a team that will be in the running for the Pro tournament on Sunday and could end up as the top contender out of the Colorado teams.

KANSAS CITY DNA

By Michael Parfitt
Colorado Flag Football Corner

PRE-TOURNAMENT RANKING #9

Making their return to Colorado to compete in their third Best of the Best is Kansas City DNA. This time around they'll have Andre Roberson in at QB. He was their original QB when they first formed up. Unfortunately for DNA they haven't played much 8man as of late due to a lack of leagues until the fall in the Kansas City area. However they did win a 5man tournament in the Dallas Cowboys stadium in April. They do believe they have the fastest WR core in the tournament which we will all find out if that indeed is the case. They have two studs on the defensive side of the ball Aaron Bernard at DL and Derahn Williams as a true shut down corner. Teams will need to be on their toes when playing these guys as they seem to make adjustments as quickly as they are needed. You'll have to keep in mind that if one of their wide-outs gets the ball over a team's DB, they'll keep going back to that WR till you stop it. So end of the story, don't get beat for the jump ball. I know that's easier said than done. In their last visit for the Best of the Best IV, DNA beat Da Bears in the first round of the playoffs but lost in the following round to the Denver Goats. Depending how the groups pan out this DNA team should be able to compete with just about anyone.

DENVER GOATS

By Michael Parfitt
Colorado Flag Football Corner

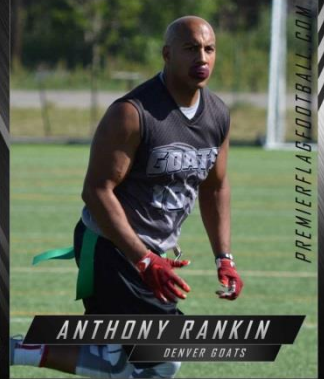

PRE-TOURNAMENT RANKING #10

One of the few teams that have competed in every single Best of the Best tournament is the Denver Goats. Obviously that's in large part to their former co-manager who is none other than the legendary Cory Juillard. When Cory started the PF3 he retired as a player/manager which put the team solely in the hands co-manager Brian Rippley who led the Denver Goats to several more PF3 tournament championships. In 2017 the torch was handed down to long time WR Anthony Rankin who is looking to keep the winning tradition going. In January the Goats were thinking they'd get Derek "Doc" Holliday back at QB but due to injuries he won't be making an appearance. It will be interesting to see who takes the snaps for the Goats in this one, but they have always been able to find what they need to compete. Savvy veteran Rankin will give any QB a solid route runner with great hands at WR. At another WR spot will be the short in stature but big in play making ability Eric Foxworth. On defense I have no idea what to expect as I was informed it has been completely overhauled. The Goats will only go as far as the defense will take them. For that very reason I think the Goats will just miss out on the Pro tournament and be challenging for the Comp Championship. One thing to keep in mind is they are the only 3x Best of the Best Champions so they can and will figure out ways to get it done.

ARIZONA UNION

By Michael Parfitt
Colorado Flag Football Corner

PRE-TOURNAMENT RANKING #11

Instead of having the Arizona Hoppers for this year's tournament, we will have Arizona Union. Some members of Hoppers will be on the Union team so there will be some Best of the Best experience on the team. Holding down one of the LB spots will be one of the Hoppers in DeVonte' Nelson. He brings the cover skills of a corner as that's what he used to play but when the situation calls for it, he can be used as a pass rusher that utilizes his speed. Look for him to help out from the slot on offense. From the O and D lines, you'll see what Kevin Ortega can do against these talented laden teams. Coming from the Arizona flag team Outlaws, his strength will make getting by him very tough. On the offensive side we'll see Jabary Gibson who has been a key figure in Arizona flag for a few years. Another key player will be Teddy Colbert who can line up anywhere that is needed and with his speed he should be productive. Look for him to take charge especially if Arizona Union decides to run a spread offense. Even though it was in 5man, Arizona Union did come away with the championship in the Battle Vegas tournament. Kevin Ortega did say "We bringing that Arizona Fire." Well I think they'll need a little more than that as it will be a tough go of it as they have only been established this year and only competed in the one tournament. I'd say due to that reason they'll miss out on the Pro tournament and will need to settle for the comp tournament.

SEATTLE BADDOGS

By Michael Parfitt
Colorado Flag Football Corner

PRE-TOURNAMENT RANKING #12

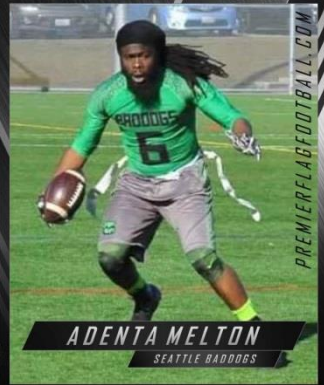

Even though the team name is the same, this Seattle Baddogs team is a little different than last year. Since last year's tournament, they split into two different teams, Baddogs Gold and Baddogs Green. The squad coming to Denver will be a mix of the two and it still remains to be seen on how it will shape up. They'll be missing a few of the hogs from last year which will translate to a more conventional passing game rather than the rushing game. They'll have to rely on long time lineman Mike Daly who made the trip last year and "Swiss army knife" Mat Davis as he is the defensive captain playing in the LB/SS spot. On offense, they'll look to Adenta Melton to pick up chunks of yardage from his receiver spot. He is a great vertical threat but also can be an effective runner should the Baddogs feel the need to dig into their roots. Another guy to keep an eye on will be Montez McGee who has speed for days considering he owns several high school and college championships in track. Last year, the Baddogs had the unfortunate luck of being slotted in what was dubbed the "Group of Death" along with Colorado Menace and Georgia United. This year they might not be in as tough of a pool play. With that said I think the learning curve they'll have with new players to their roster might make it hard to make the Pro tournament on Sunday and they'll be left competing for the Comp championship.

HOUSE (CO)

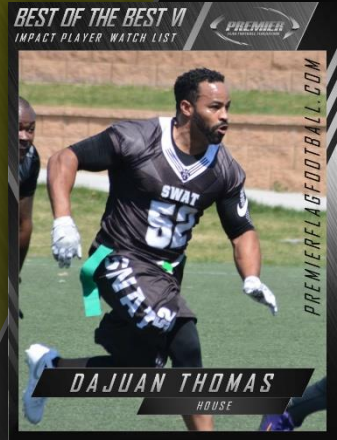

By Michael Parfitt
Colorado Flag Football Corner

PRE-TOURNAMENT RANKING #13

House, out of Colorado, are making what I believe is their second appearance here at the Best of the Best. House has decided to team up with another PF3 squad in Swat to add much needed players, speed, and beef to the roster. At QB, Dave Maestas is a grizzly vet who has played for a ton of PF3 teams, in fact he played QB for the Goats when they won Best of the Best I and II (tied with gamblers in II). He'll have a tremendous RB/WR to throw to in Pedy Tehran who is one of the hardest cover assignments on the field. I assume the defense will be led by DaJuan Thomas, who has been blessed with great strength and speed. He'll lineup at LB but when he comes on a pass rush watch out as he will be by your O-line in a blink of an eye. For the ones he doesn't blow by he could drive them back a good 5 yards on first contact and put you on your butt. House will look to have a ton of improvement from Best of the Best IV as they had two losses and one tie. For House to have a chance for a Best of the Best Championship it will all come down to giving Maestas just enough time to pick apart the defense. If they can do that, then they'll be in the running for big trophy.

DENVER ROCKERS

By Michael Parfitt
Colorado Flag Football Corner

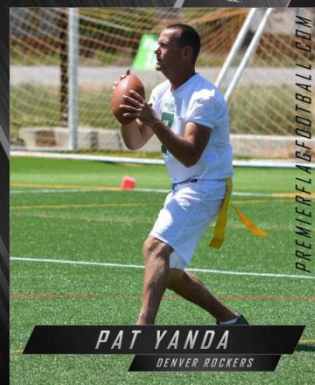

PRE-TOURNAMENT RANKING #14

The Denver Rockers are probably the most out of state experienced team from Colorado as they compete twice every year in Vegas. You can never count out the Rockers as they are led by Pat Yanda at QB. Snapping the ball to Pat will be Dave Luckey. Luckey may be getting older but the dude seems to be getting better with age. From what I have seen, he has become more nimble and it seems like he's gotten faster. Luckey also leads the defense at the middle LB spot. The Rockers should be locked down in the secondary with Chauncey Pryor, Ricky Peterson, and Jerrad Burdick. All three have been with the Rockers for years and all three help produce on the offensive side of the ball. While the list of accomplishments is a long one for the Rockers, the latest championship was in the South Suburban dome spring league. The Rockers strength is precision on all fronts from the quick release of Yanda at QB to the routes run by all the receivers. The Rockers have picked up a couple of players in PJ Jones and Mike Parfitt (myself) to help on both O and D lines. The experience that this team brings will be very valuable in how successful of a tournament they have. Due to myself playing on the team, I can't make a prediction on this one.

PRE-TOURNAMENT RANKING #15

Kryptonite from Denver, Co enters the tournament for the very first time. Fortunately for Kryptonite they have competed against the Rockers and Menace a few times which helps in preparation. Derek Watson has recruited some very solid talent and puts guys in good position to maximize that talent. Their strength would be the ability to stretch the field deep when going to WR Blake Hughes. Throwing the ball to Blake will be the very talented Jovan Mays. With Jovan behind center Kryptonite should be able to put up some points. From what I've seen of Kryptonite they run a bend but don't break defense. Usually Derek will come up with some blitz scheme that can throw your blocking system out of whack. Their defensive backs may lack size to compete with taller WR's and WR who can jump out of this world but they will be there to contest the pass. Even though Kryptonite has yet to put a notch in a championship belt, they look like they could possibly get one in the comp tournament. Regardless of where they finish in this one, Kryptonite can take this opportunity as a learning experience and could get guys competitive juices going for further tournament action.

PRE-TOURNAMENT RANKING #16

Dero Ard brings his Denver Alphas into the Best of the Best for the second time. While they won't be looked as one of the favorites, their never give up attitude might be able to surprise some unsuspecting teams. They do bring some championship experience as they have won the indoor Hyland Hills league a couple times. They'll look to TJ Benavides as one of the go to WR's and Safety. TJ has a nice combination of speed and a good set of hands that help make him dangerous. When teams start to over focus on TJ, Dero will toss the rock to Ray Whittaker. Whittaker will also be bringing the heat on the opposing QB as he'll also lineup as a pass rusher. Still in their infancy, the Alphas have an uphill battle to go in this tournament. This is one local team that isn't afraid of the big stage, and are willing to take any challenge head on regardless of the odds. I'd look for the Alphas to be in the Comp tournament come Sunday.

Players and team representatives are to abide by, and follow the rules of the guidelines below.

- Encourage good sportsmanship from fellow players, team representatives, and officials at every game by demonstrating good sportsmanship.
- Treat team representatives, other players, officials and fans with respect regardless of race, sex, creed, or abilities.
- Do not engage in unsportsmanlike conduct with any team representative, player, league official, or any other attendee.
- Do not engage in any behavior which would endanger the health, safety, or well-being of a team representative, player, league official, or any other attendee.
- Do not engage in the use of profanity.
- Do not engage in verbal or physical threats or abuse aimed at any team representative, player, league official or any other attendee.
- Do not initiate a fight or scuffle with any team representative, player, league official, or any other attendee.
- If players or team representatives fail to abide by the above code of conduct they will be subject to disciplinary action that could include, but is not limited to the following:
 - Verbal warning by an official
 - Penalties by an official that may affect the outcome of a game
 - Suspension
 - Lifetime ban from all PF3 events (leagues and tournaments)

Players and team representatives must understand that they must uphold the PF3 Player Code of Conduct at all times. All players and coaches should know the importance of sportsmanship. In order to keep this league successful, and be able to secure our fields for years to come, this code of conduct must be strictly adhered to.

By receiving an invitation to play in a PF3 league/event please understand that it's because your team is not only talented, but has previously displayed a high standard of sportsmanship. Let's show everyone why they would want to compete in the Premier Flag Football Federation!

"Show class, have pride, and display character. If you do, winning takes care of itself."

Paul "Bear" Bryant

Failure to follow these rules will result in the loss of our ability to secure these fields in the future. If it's noticed that any of these rules are being broken your game will be halted immediately until issue is resolved!

Don't be the team that causes this tournament to run behind schedule and/or waiting on to resume games!!!

AURORA SPORTS PARK RULES & PF3 FINES / SUSPENSIONS FOR NOT COMPLYING

Aurora Sports Park has pointed out the following rules we need to stay on top of this weekend. Failure to comply could put a halt to our tournament, and we could also lose the right to play at Aurora Sports Park in the future. They really protect their fields so we need to do our part!

- 1. NO FIGHTING / NO POLICE CALLS – Aurora Sports Park requires us to fill out full names of each individual involved on an incident form. Their field managers are also required to call the police on every incident. Because incidents like these may cause us to lose these fields we are upping the suspensions and fines for those involved. Anyone caught fighting will be suspended from all PF3 events for 2 years, and fined $500.00! We know this is a long suspension and a heavy fine that will probably never get paid by the individuals who decide to break this rule, but that's ok. If players want to break this rule and cost your teams the chance to play on these fields we don't want them back anyways. This tournament is for those who want to just play the top level of flag football only! There will be plenty of cameras on the field to help us out on this one...
- 2. NO ALCOHOL OR MARIJUANA ONSITE – Although this one may be hard to police, if there is a specific player caught there will be a 1 year suspension and a $250.00 fine for him. Again, something that could cost us the right to play on these great fields.
- 3. KEEP THE LANGUAGE DOWN because youth games could be going on fields next to our fields. Players who are cursing at an opponent's, official, or tournament staff should be prepared to have their team penalized, sat down for extended amounts of game time, or just completely thrown out of the tournament. The officials may or may not be willing to give them a warning.
- 4. NO FOOD, SEEDS, GUM , OR TABACCO PRODUCTS ON THE TURF! The grassy areas and sidewalks are the only locations this is allowed.
- 5. WATER IS THE ONLY LIQUID ALLOWED ON THE TURF! No Gatorades, Power Aids, Protein Drinks etc. allowed. The grassy areas and sidewalks is the only location liquids other than water is allowed.
- 6. Please help with cleaning up trash after your games.

PLEASE follow these specific rules so we can continue to play at this amazing sports park!
If you see someone that is in violation please report it to one of our staff members.
Your name will remain anonymous!

Very few tournaments around the country have the ability to play on fields like these!
With everyone's help we can keep these fields and continue to build this tournament!!!

Aurora Sports park as a strict lightening policy. If lightning is detected within 10 miles of the park they will go on a 30 minute delay. This delay is reset with every new strike within 10 miles.

Onsite staff we be monitoring the weather but and the PF3 staff will work with them in making decision and announcements. If there is a lightning delay the fields have to be cleared immediately and everyone has to go to their vehicles.

Please work with us to follow this park policy for the safety of our players and fans!!!
