

OFFSEASON STRENGTH + CONDITIONING

Strength and conditioning are an important part of any athlete's development, and that doesn't stop once the season ends. This off-season program aims to provide young athletes from all sports, ages 6-18, with focused sessions around cardio and body-weight strength training; including core, plyometric and agility exercises. Drills can be scaled for individuals/age groups, to promote smaller group activities while reinforcing a competitive and challenging approach that pushes each kid to work hard and find their physical and mental strength.

Champions are made in the offseason...
