

Chris Veto

Family: Born and raised in Colorado, Coach Veto is the son of Sidney and Lucille Veto and has one older and one younger sister. Sidney coached at Adams City High School and took young Chris to every football game. The first recollection Coach Veto has of football is in the press box of Adams City High School. Coach Veto and his wife, Dr. Christine Veto, assistant principal of Douglas County High School, have been married for 30 years. Their twin daughters, Megan & Katelyn, are graduates of the University of Northern Colorado. Their son Patrick is finishing his senior year at Adams State University, and their youngest son, Sean, is starting at UNC in the fall.

Playing Career: Coach Veto played football, ran track, and wrestled at Pomona High School in Arvada, CO. He continued to play football and wrestled at Cornell College in Iowa and transferred to the University of Northern Colorado where he was a member of the NCC Conference Indoor/Outdoor Track Team for all four years he attended.

Coaching Career: Coach Veto began his coaching career at Greeley West High School working with linebackers. He then coached quarterbacks, receivers, and defensive backs at Platte Valley High School in Kersey, CO. Coach Veto then coached at Highland High School in Ault, CO, working with defensive backs and receivers. He was also involved with the Special Olympics, coaching young participants in track and field.

In the fall of 2018, Coach Veto was hired at Douglas County High School and volunteered to work with the freshman football team. He worked with defensive backs and receivers. For the 2019 and 2020 seasons Coach Veto served as the head freshman coach for DCHS. Coach Veto will continue to work with Varsity and JV defensive backs again here in this 2023 season.
