TOWN MUSEUM

PRICES

Adults: CHF 6.00 - Children: free entry

The striking entrance of the Stadt Museum already provides an idea of the successful way in which the past is colliding with the present within this museum. The new building combines a 14th century tower with a 15th century town palace, both of them serve as exhibition space.

While the historical character of the rooms has been preserved, the exhibition design proves to be surprisingly modern and is of significant importance for the cultural memory of the city. A model shows the city 200 years ago, handicraft and industrial objects tell of the change in production. Of course, the Circus Knie, which is homebased in Rapperswil-Jona, is not left unmentioned. Further, the windows offer a magnificent view over the city. For more information please see here.

WOODEN BRIDGE

A beautiful walk across Lake Zurich from Rapperswil to Hurden.

On the bridge between Rapperswil and Hurden you can walk in the footsteps of the pilgrims to St. James. Since the 19th century, a passable dam allows cars to cross the lake between Rapperswil and Hurden. In April 2001, an 841-metre long and modernly designed wooden bridge for pedestrians was inaugurated on the site of the old footbridge. It is the longest wooden bridge in Switzerland standing on 233 piles. Except from some construction elements (yoke beams, barriers, connecting parts), the entire bridge is made of untreated oak wood. Botany and architecture on 75.000 m2 - The Enea Tree Museum is in an impressive park near Lake Zurich in Rapperswil-Jona. It combines landscape, botany, architecture, art and design.

The idea of establishing a tree museum arose from Enzo Enea's work as a landscape architect. All trees in the museum were initially intended to be deforested. However, thanks to Enzo Enea, they can now continue to thrive after extensive transportation. The Museum hosts over 50 trees of over 25 species, some of which are over 100 years old and thus create an aura of imperishability. Another 100 trees and plants can be found in the park surrounding the Tree Museum. More information here.
