WEEK 1 GAME 1

CTS 56 DENVER ROCKERS 00

Welcome back all to another season of PF3 football. This season we'll have a bunch of storylines to keep an eye on. To start off the season, the defending champs, CTS faced off against the Denver Rockers. CTS started their defense of the crown by making a huge statement with a 56 to 0 win. CTS dominated on all fronts, from how Deuce Richardson only had three incompletions on twenty attempts to the defense getting four INT's, 3 of which were returned for scores. The first half of the game was completely dominated by CTS, however in the second half, the Rockers finally got the ball moving a bit but it was too little too late. This is by far not the way the Rockers play ball and I don't anticipate another complete dumpster fire showing. The five touchdown game that Deuce produced has earned him the Denver Athletic Offensive Player of the Week and it's definitely well deserved. I am hard pressed to find a weakness on this CTS team. They'll have to maintain their composure against The Bros, which are rivals in my eyes. As for the Rockers they'll try to rebound against the Colorado Huskers. That is intriguing as the Huskers have a few guys who play on the Rockers in other leagues.

MILE HIGH BUILT 24 COLORADO HUSKERS 18

COLORADO FLAG
FOOTBALL CORNER

Mile High Built has welcomed back Artie "The Ghost" Barcelo with open arms and it paid off against the Colorado Huskers. This was truly the first test the Colorado Huskers have had since becoming an 8man squad. They cruised to the B league championship with almost no contestation. Well, none of those teams had the combined talent the A league has. We also finally got the answer of who will QB the Huskers and it will be Julian Banks with possibly Mario Lopez sprinkled in here and there. Former professional arena football quarterback JJ Raterink is on the Husker official roster, but his schedule outside of the flag football world may cause him to miss a majority of the games. Regardless of who they have at the helm they can compete with anyone at the Pro level.

Mile High Built owned the first half as they jumped to a 12 nothing lead. However, only having nine guys likely had a something to do with the Huskers mounting a comeback. The aggressive defense of Mile High Built was able to bottle up the shorter passing game of the Huskers. Artie was able to do his best Aaron Rodgers impression and push his MHB team to victory while accounting for four total touchdowns. Mile High Built will need to deal with the man on a tear Mike Timms and the NoCo Bulls .

THE BROS 36 DENVER GOATS 06

The game between the Denver Goats and The Bros began somewhat slow but ramped up later. Even with the Bros getting a 13 to 0 lead in the first half. The Goats couldn't really get much of anything going on offense. To me, the struggles on offense for the Goats are in part due to a QB who is more familiar with tackle football than flag. The other reason is due to how stellar the Bros defense is. The second half became more electric with more scoring overall and with the interception returns for touchdowns. The speed that the Bros have in the secondary is just ridiculous and I'm willing to bet they could put together the fastest 4x100 team (I smell a challenge). You could tell Donell Wells was a little rusty with his throwing, the accuracy and slow release noticeable. Donell's legs definitely weren't rusty as he ran all over the Goats to a tune of 126 yards and 3 touchdowns. I'm sure that the rust won't last long especially with top tier WR options of Jamiko Verner, Moss Henderson, and Marcus Crowder making things easier. The Goats did have a couple dropped INT's that would have stopped some scoring drives. The Goats did get some solid production from Duane Rich who caught four passes that went for 108yds. Can the Goats rebound against another tough defense in the Colorado Menace? Will the Bros avenge their loss to CTS in the playoffs last season?

WEEK 1 GAME 4

NOCO BULLS 24 COLORADO MENACE 13

So who in the world would Colorado Menace get to replace Jesse Eaton at QB? What about Dane Robinson at LT? Menace decided to bring in Trevor Okamoto to fill in for Jesse for this season. In Trevor's first start with Menace he was under tremendous pressure and not because of the shoes he's filling in for now. I'm talking about the pressure that Mike Timm was putting on him play after play. Trevor still managed to connect on two touchdown passes to Kyle Bowers. This was the game to watch for great D-line play from both teams. Donovan Haynes and Travis Whitham were causing all sorts of issues for NoCo Bulls O-line. Haynes nabbed three sacks to start the season but shockingly he was out performed by Mike Timm. It's not shocking that Mike played great, it's shocking that he was able to get five sacks. Those five sacks and countless QB pressures earned him the Denver Athletic Defensive Player of the Week. Will we see another record season for sacks? Don't get it twisted as Menace still has a beast of a line and where able talk Gary Red Willow into putting off retirement for another season. For NoCo they needed this win as a rebound from how the Best of the Best tournament turned out. Even with being under pressure from Haynes, David Knighton accounted for four total touchdowns. The veteran experience from Knighton was a huge factor on the outcome of this one.

WEEK 1 GAME 5

KRYPTONITE 26 SWAT 07

Coming into this season I wasn't sure what to expect from the B League other than it should be highly competitive. To kick the B league off we had one of the 2018 spring league finals contenders in Swat going up against a highly over looked team in Kryptonite. In what I thought was going to be a close back and forth game, turned into a one sided affair for Kryptonite. Powering Kryptonite to the win was stellar defensive play. With three INT's and two pick six's, team captain Derek Watson is this game's MVP. Watson and Co. will need to keep powering Kryptonite until the offense can build some chemistry. Just walking up and down the sidelines I noticed at least five different teams represented on Kryptonite. Not saying that's a bad thing as none of those teams decided to sign up. Their offense did start clicking in the second half and will only continue to get better with veteran QB Dero Ard. As for Swat they continue to have the offensive and defensive lines to gain them some wins. They too have picked up players from non-present teams. They were seen giving former Red Raiders QB Curtis Martinez a few reps and he showed some flashes but not enough to make a comeback while Matthew Marsh did start the game at QB. A rotation might not be the best situation but we shall see what Swat ultimately decides on going forward. The score of 26 to 7 may say one thing, but Swats defense did not surrender that many points. Just a heads up on any team sleeping on Swat... DON'T. This could very well be a playoff preview and it is only week one.

OILERS 26 EAGLES 13

COLORADO FLAG
FOOTBALL CORNER

The second game put 2017 fall season B league champion Oilers against a familiar opponent in the Eagles. These two teams have seen each other on a few occasions in a 7man league. To many people, the Eagles are a new team but they do have the speedster Robbie Ford as their captain and QB. That name may sound familiar to some as Robbie was my teams QB a couple seasons ago in PF3. He was able to guide his team to a 13 to 0 lead at half but the war of attrition took effect. The Eagles wore down in the second half from the heat, being out of football shape (like so many others are), and by the lack of roster depth. Only two players on this squad have seen the caliber of play that the PF3 can represent so it will be a learning experience for most of them. The Oilers on the other hand have plenty of PF3 experience but lost a few guys from last season. They have turned to Mike Uribe to step in at QB because they lost Trevor Okamoto to another team for this season. Showing experience to make the proper adjustments is one reason why the Oilers have come into the season as the #10 ranked team. Being able to get the comeback victory of 26 to 13 will only solidify that ranking. This Oilers team has talent on all phases and looks to be a clear playoff contender. To be honest, without Trevor at QB I don't see the offensive output like last fall but Mike Uribe showed he can guide this team to victory. The Oilers will get a good challenge from Sudden Impact next week but the schedule doesn't get any easier for the Eagles when they face Kryptonite.

SUDDEN IMPACT 27 OLD SCHOOL 25

For Old School, their return to the PF3 did not go as planned after just barely losing to Sudden Impact. With an average age possibly of 37, Old School definitely live up to their name. The experience from this team helped them gain a first half lead even though Sudden Impact was driving. The heat and age caught up to Old school and couldn't quite hold on. This win for Sudden Impact was very impressive, not due just to the talent but they achieved the win with only seven players. Consider how out of football shape just about every team is along with having to go both ways. These guys showed some gumption while one player in particular showed everyone his lunch. The final score of 27 to 25 is a little misleading as Sudden Impact was up by two scores before Old school scored in the final minutes. It appeared as though Sudden Impact might have corrected the high snap issues that plagued them last season. If Sudden Impact can gain some more depth on their roster then they could be in the playoff hunt. For Old School they'll see if they can get their first W of season when they face off against the Mustangs.

DENVER LIGHTNING 40 MUSTANGS 06

From the 40 to 6 win for the Denver Lightning, it appears that home field advantage might be the key to them contending for a championship. Once again the Lightning have a very explosive offense while using the oyster. They jumped out to a 26 point lead in the first half. They almost had the 36 point mercy rule implemented but the Mustangs where able to get something going on offense with about 6mins left in the game. We found out the Lightning got some new jersey/shorts and now have several different variations that can be on display throughout the season. Can all those jersey options be the key to a home turf championship? The Mustangs have almost a completely new team and I think I recognized about three guys from last season. They did acquire some adequately talented guys but will those guys stick around long enough to get some chemistry going. I do have to admit the last time I saw anything close to this talent from the Mustangs was when they made the playoffs in fall of 2016. The Lightning will see how their potent offense will fair against the always stingy FOE defense this week.

FOE 12 BULLIES 00 (Bullies Forfeit)

The last game of week one was a quick one as the Bullies had to forfeit due to not enough players. So an easy and quick win gets FOE a 1 and 0 start to the season. Even though it kind of stinks that FOE had to make the drive and miss out on some NFL football, they did get an intra-squad scrimmage in to hopefully be ready for week 2. It looked like FOE is mainly the same team that made the semi-final last year but did get a few new additions. Look for them to make another strong playoff push this year.
