Introduction to Formations

All offensive plays start from a formation that dictates where all six players line up prior to the start of the play. Our flag football playbooks focus on six formations – deuce, deuce jet series, trips right, trips left, spread right and spread left. There are always adjustments and changes a coach can make to these plays (including sending a player in motion); however, it is important when coaching young players that you focus more on basic fundamentals of the game and less on complicated formations and motions. Teams that do just a few things very well will be more successful than teams that do many things less than well.

PLAY-CALLING

When calling an offensive play in the huddle, give the formation first, then the play. Example: "Split Back Right End Around" would refer to a Split Back Right formation and the End Around play.

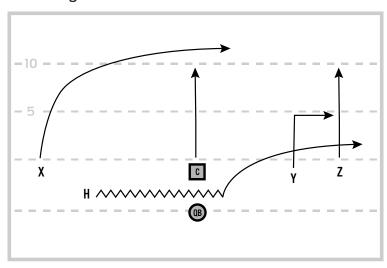

Note: Play names included in this playbook are suggestions. Feel free to adapt the play names to fit your needs and the mental capacity of your players. USA Football recommends picking a few plays that your team can run well rather than implementing the entire playbook.
