Your next steps for getting recruited

1 Build your NCSA Recruiting Profile.

This will make it easy for coaches to find you online and evaluate you as a recruit. Make sure to fill out all the information. The more complete your profile is, the more likely it is for coaches to take your interest seriously. Check your email for a link following the event or get started at ncsasports.org.

2 Schedule your free recruiting assessment.

Once you've created your profile, a recruiting expert from NCSA will reach out to schedule your assessment. This call will help you find out how you stack up against other potential recruits, where you'll find the best college opportunities and what your personalized next steps in recruiting should be. Your profile will also get activated, making it easier for coaches to find you.

3 Learn about the recruiting process.

The key to being successful in college recruiting is being knowledgeable and proactive. NCSA offers in-depth guides about every aspect of the college recruiting journey. Get started at ncsasports.org/recruiting.
