

ALL-STARS AND AWARDS OVERVIEW

How are All-Stars and Award Winners chosen?

Alodia uses multiple sources in making our decisions: input from coaches, supervisors, and league administration, and scoring stats. Similar to college and professional team all-star and award processes, players from higher performing teams have a higher overall likelihood of being recognized.

Who is chosen to be an All-Star?

All-Stars recognize top overall performers in each division who demonstrate consistent success in various areas of the game on the court.

NOTE: Participation in the All-Star game is optional.
Some invitees are unable to play due to prior conflicts.

Who gets the Leading Scorer Award?

The Leading Scorer Award is given to the individual with the most total points (not per game average) for the season based on stats as recorded in the app.

What is the Alodia Award?

The Alodia Award goes to players who get the most from their talent on and off the court. They demonstrate discipline, determination, hard work, and are successful in various aspects of basketball beyond scoring.
