WORLD CUP

The World Cup season has begun with Mikaela Shiffrin winning her 70th World Cup race at Soelden. Meanwhile, River Radamus finished with a career best 6th place finish.

Ways to watch:

NBC's paid streaming service Peacock (plans starting at $4.99 per month)

Races will also be offered free of charge with English commentary at skiworldcup.live

ALPINE OFFICIALS CLINICS

Alpine Officials Update scheduled for October 25 at 7pm. The course will be online. Look for registration information on the Region 3 website or at the link below. Alternative date is November 6, hosted by Rocky Mountain Ski Race Officials.

Alpine Officials Clinic will be held in person November 6 and 7 at Nubs Nob. This is the only scheduled clinic at this time. We are working on scheduling a clinic close to home. You must attend and Update prior to attending a Alpine Officials Clinic.

FUNDAMENTALS

Pinnacle Athletes will be traveling to Arapahoe Basin for Fundamentals camp.

We are looking forward to this camp, and are excited that many resorts are already starting to open!

Fundamentals is known as one of the most important camps to set up for the season. There are only 7 weeks until the first Mid Am for our FIS athletes.

DRYLAND TRAINING

With only 7 weeks until our first race it is important that we keep good attendance at dryland trainings, especially as we enter camp season.

If you are finishing participation in a Fall sport you may start attending dryland at 2SP during the 4:30 time slot. On Tuesdays, U16 can attend the 5:15 and 6:15 sessions, and U14 athletes should attend the 6:30 session.
