

Minnesota Heat Hoops Fall season FAQ

How does the Fall session differ from the spring/summer session?

The Minnesota Heat fall session is an abbreviated version of our spring/summer session. Minnesota Heat's fall season is a 4-week session that takes place from late-September through mid-October. Focusing on skill development, participants will receive thorough coaching in preparation of the upcoming traveling/high school basketball season.

How rigorous is the fall season?

In comparison to the spring/summer session, the fall session is less rigorous. Teams practice once/week for the duration of the season. Games are on the following dates 9/30, 10/7, 10/14 and 10/21.

Where are practices located?

Minnesota Heat is a basketball program based in the New Brighton. The practice locations utilized throughout the season are placed in neighboring cities.

For a complete list of locations please visit: <https://minnesotaheat.net> -> boys -> practice locations.

What is the next step if my son made a team?

You should receive an email from a coach no later than Monday the 24th.

How are practices structured?

Practices will function like a skills clinic. Conducted by Minnesota Heat's Skill Development Lead Matt Schumann, teams will participate in a 90-minute session once per week based on grade. Coaches of each team will also be present during the sessions to give participants extra attention and instruction. There will be time allocated for teams to break off from the large group for coaches to install plays and engage the team in team-specific activities. With the fall season's main focus on skill session, this approach is best suited to achieve the intended results.

Practices will start the week of September 23.

Can my child play a fall sport and Heat?

Practices are once per week and are after after school activities. It is OK to miss Heat practice or games as long as it is communicated with the coach.

Where are games played?

September 30th will be a Heat event at Coon Rapids HS. The October weekends will be through MYAS and will be at schools across the metro. Schedules will be released 5-7 days prior to the tourney weekend.

Please note that our fall league focus is very heavy on skill development and not team win/loss record. Our teams which are mostly made of players who have not played together will be practicing once a week working on skills and will be playing primarily school teams who play together frequently. It is important to keep this in mind throughout the fall season.
