Choosing the right ski length is a very personal choice and to a large degree, a very subjective decision.

This chart shows some of the common trends which should be taken into consideration when making model and length decisions for your racer.

The selection of the optimal ski model and length is determined by the following order: a skier's ability, height, power and weight.

If you are still in doubt of what will be best for your racer, please consult your racers coach and/or a designated Fischer race specialist shop to help match the equipment that will suit your racers needs.
