Subject: Canada Soccer Survey for Women and Girls in Soccer

Canada Soccer is working on a gender-equity driven initiative and is seeking input from women and girls in the soccer community.

A new Canada Soccer women's and girl's strategy is in development which will aim to foster more opportunities, support, and recognition for the sport's more underrepresented gender.

From now until October 26, Canada Soccer will hold an online survey as a way of getting girls and women involved in the effort.

"Canada Soccer recognizes the value of hearing directly from women and girls who are part of our sport," said a statement from the National governing body to its Members Associations. "Their unique experiences and insights can play a pivotal role in understanding the barriers and the opportunities to create change."

The survey should take approximately 10 minutes to complete, and all responses will be completely anonymous.
